

Arabic Color Matching Game

- Print off all pages of this document. I prefer to print on cardstock.
- Laminate the pages for durability.
- Cut out the cards.

Use these cards as a matching game. Lay down all the cards on the table face-down. Have your child turn over two cards – seeing if they match the color with the color name. If they have a match, set it aside. If they do not, turn over the two cards and have your child another set of two cards to see if they have a match (and so on). They win when they make all the matches.

For younger children, simply print off the color squares (twice) only and not the color names. Have them match the colors and when they do – tell them the color names for reinforcement.

You can also have more than one player play this game. When all matches are made, have the children count their cards (in Arabic). Whoever has the most cards wins!
